Hello and welcome to the first edition of Dental Health Services Library Newsletter for 2019.

The 2018 Stocktake has now been completed, showing good results for patronage, items on the shelves and the return rates of same. A list of items missing has been distributed via Circular...if you have seen or know the location of any listed items, please contact the library/return immediately – these are patrons resources and required for loan/study purposes.

The processes of updating outdated items and recovering texts is ongoing, especially post-stocktake, when inevitably the number rises; these housekeeping duties will keep me very busy!

Please don’t forget to refer new items for purchase if you feel it will benefit the library...it’s almost impossible to keep up with all new texts coming onto the market and your input is much appreciated.

The library projectors, screens and Bluetooth speakers are constantly put to good use for Area Meetings – also available are external DVD hard drives if required. Please remember these items are not to be returned to the library via Courier.

New member registration forms are readily available both on the DHS webpage and on-site if you would like to recommend the library to a fellow employee who has not yet become a patron.

You may also email (library@dental.health.wa.gov.au) /phone (9313 0610) /fax (9313 4141) the library with any questions or requests and I will respond as soon as possible.

Hoping this next month is productive and happy for all

Senior citizens from all walks of life face a gauntlet of physical, psychological, and social hurdles. But do the disadvantages some people accumulate over the course of their lives make their final years especially difficult? Or does the quality of life among poor and affluent seniors converge at some point? This text investigates whether persistent socioeconomic, racial, and gender divisions in America create inequalities that structure the lives of the elderly.

Mobile access

What is a mobile site?
A mobile (web) site has been optimised for viewing by a mobile device. It usually has a "stripped down" appearance to make it quicker to download and easier to view on a smaller screen. Mobile sites can be accessed from any mobile web browser regardless of the type of device.

What is a mobile resource?
A mobile resource is any resource such as a journal database or point-of-care tool that can be accessed by a mobile device. The resource may or may not have been optimised for viewing on your mobile platform as it may be device or operating system dependent - for example, a resource may be available only as an iPhone app.

This guide is designed to provide an introduction to WA DoH library content, resources and applications that can be accessed using mobile devices such as PDAs, Palm Pilots, Blackberrys and iPads/iPhones.
For the most part, mobile devices that support web browsing can be used to access online library resources, however some have special features that make viewing easier on a portable device.

Important notes:
For technical information and support for your mobile device please consult your manual. Mobile access is not free access. While some products include mobile access as part of the Library's ongoing subscription, some products such as MIMS, will require additional individual expense to enable mobile access.
All internet-enabled devices can access the library pages and resources, but not all resources are optimised for viewing on a mobile device and some of the features may not be available via your mobile device.
Some resource links will send you directly to a specially developed mobile site, while others will send you to applications to download.
Subscription resources often require that you first register yourself and/or your device.

Remember you can also purchase MIMS for your smart phone.
