Hello and welcome to the latest edition of Dental Health Services Library Newsletter.

I hope you enjoyed your Easter break – I’m guessing for some of us (but not all!) it equates to the amount of chocolate consumed.

However, we are now into Term 2 and looking winter in the face, with this week giving us a little sampler of things to come. We’re a spoilt lot here in Western Australia as far as the weather is concerned; I can certainly vouch for that statement, having just spent a week in Melbourne, where I required a very thick blanket and doona to sleep soundly and never allowed my woollen jumper out of my sight (I know, it can be extremely warm there as well, just not while I’m holidaying!).

I have all but completed the task of ordering updated items post-stocktake, and shelves will begin to look fuller over the next few weeks as cataloguing and covering is completed. Please give yourself a few minutes to come and see what is available; although we are essentially a Specialist Dental Library, we also have many healthy, happy lifestyle/working texts for patrons interested in such.

If you have any suggestions for titles which would fit into the ethos of our collection, please let me know and I will look into purchasing same.

Please see page 6 of this newsletter for updated podcast listings….. Find a topic of your liking, go to the Online Library webpage, click on "Books and AV Resources" (blue tab), find “Podcasts/VODcasts” and click on your chosen link.

I hope to hear from or see you in the near future, whether that be requesting a loan or coming in for a look.

Regards

Heather

After more than a decade of being a practicing medium, Theresa Caputo shares the powerful lessons she has learned about grief, healing, and finding happiness in the wake of tragedy. With her energetic, positive, and encouraging tone, Theresa guides you through grief toward a place of solace and healing, grounded in her clients’ experiences of losing loved ones, and the ways in which they’ve been able to heal and grow.

Ethical principles are essential in the practice of dentistry, and this concise volume covers ethics issues in the education of dentists, in licensure and licensing examinations, in solo and group private practice, and in esthetic dentistry. It also supplies a chapter presenting the patient’s perspective on medical ethics, one on informed consent, and another on the process of developing the guidelines for ethical dental decision-making.
Special care dentistry: for individuals with special health care needs / Yadav, Roma; Yadav, Abhishek; Pahuja, Meetika. LAMBERT Academic Publishing. Germany. 2016. 57 pp. WU 470. 401004830

Special health care needs Individuals have poorer oral hygiene and periodontal status, more untreated caries and fewer remaining teeth. Their oral health condition may be influenced by age, severity of impairment and living conditions. They may have great limitations in oral hygiene performance due to their potential motor, sensory and intellectual disabilities, and so are prone to poor oral health. Health care for them requires specialized knowledge, increased awareness and attention, adaptation, and accommodative measures beyond what are considered routine. Thus, this book emphasizes on the importance of oral health and focuses on the preventive dental care for the individuals with SHCN.

The window to your health; achieving a healthy and beautiful smile / Mullaney, Kathleen. Advantage. Charleston, South Carolina. 2018. 127 pp. WU 113. 401004835

Visiting the dentist has historically been a chore, a dreaded task, a necessary nuisance-but it doesn't have to be that way. Your dental health is vital to not only your personal wellness, but your overall well-being. This text will help you learn how to best care for your smile at every stage of your life, using it as leverage to: -Improve your overall health -Increase your self-confidence -Reduce your risk of disease -Unlock your full potential

For Australian children to achieve their full potential in a rapidly changing world, they need a high-quality education. However, experts and teachers can’t do it alone. In fact, all the research shows that parents and carers have a big part to play.

The author, Director of the Gonski Institute for Education and former NSW education minister, sets out clearly what you need to know to ensure your child receives the quality education they deserve. Jargon-free and easy to understand, this book will empower you with the knowledge and advice you need to make a difference.

This thoroughly updated edition provides a guide to the major measures of health and functioning and is an invaluable resource for health professionals and students engaged in research. In this book measures of subjective well-being and quality of life are introduced along with analysis of their validity and reliability and the evidence for using each one.

4 The Fearful Dental Patient

body, palpitations of the heart, syncope ... it makes men amazed and astonished, they know nor what to do and where they are; it tortures them many days before, with continued affrights and suspicions. It hinders most honourable attempts and makes their hearts ache and be sad. They that live in fear are never resolute and secure, never merry but in continued pain. No greater misery, no rack, no torture unlike it, ever suspicious, anxious, solicitous, they are without reason or control, without judgment. ...

The word “fear” stems from the Old English word fear, meaning sudden calamity or danger. In Middle English, as in today’s complex society, it denotes a normal, useful response to an active or imagined threat. For example, if an individual is confronted with an impending threat of fire, gunfire or very high winds, that fear can cause the individual to take life-saving actions. Fear can also sharpen one’s wits, mobilize energies, and heighten reflexes. The physiological responses that emotional arousal causes are designed to prepare the body for the three Fs—“flight, fight, freeze.”

Mobile access

What is a mobile site?
A mobile (web) site has been optimised for viewing by a mobile device. It usually has a "stripped down" appearance to make it quicker to download and easier to view on a smaller screen. Mobile sites can be accessed from any mobile web browser regardless of the type of device.

What is a mobile resource?
A mobile resource is any resource such as a journal database or point-of-care tool that can be accessed by a mobile device. The resource may or may not have been optimised for viewing on your mobile platform as it may be device or operating system dependent - for example, a resource may be available only as an iPhone app.

This guide is designed to provide an introduction to WA DoH library content, resources and applications that can be accessed using mobile devices such as PDAs, Palm Pilots, Blackberrys and iPads/iPhones.
For the most part, mobile devices that support web browsing can be used to access online library resources, however some have special features that make viewing easier on a portable device.

Important notes:
For technical information and support for your mobile device please consult your manual. Mobile access is not free access. While some products include mobile access as part of the Library's ongoing subscription, some products such as MIMS, will require additional individual expense to enable mobile access.
All internet-enabled devices can access the library pages and resources, but not all resources are optimised for viewing on a mobile device and some of the features may not be available via your mobile device.
Some resource links will send you directly to a specially developed mobile site, while others will send you to applications to download.
Subscription resources often require that you first register yourself and/or your device.

Remember you can also purchase MIMS for your smart phone.
